

COCKPIT ARTS

London Creative Network Partners

LCN is delivered by four partner organisations across London (SPACE, Cockpit Arts, Four Corners and Photofusion) and will run from autumn 2016 to autumn 2018. Each LCN partner is running a different version of the LCN programme, tailored to their own industry and each has varying delivery time frames.

Cockpit Arts is working closely with makers to develop new processes, products and services, as well as giving a foundation of core business skills; leading to a more sustainable practice; offering a rolling programme catering for all types of craft practices - from batch producers to artist-makers.

Four Corners is supporting photographers to develop their practice through a programme of specialist workshops, mentoring support, in-house facilities and networking, with the opportunity to create and showcase new projects. Four Corners is a learning, production and exhibition centre for film and photography based in East London for over 40 years.

Photofusion support photographers to who wish to extend their practice by incorporating new ways of working, with an emphasis on the development of new products and services. Photofusion offers specialist workshops, use of in-house facilities, and mentoring, as well as advice on how to incorporate these new ways of working into existing business/artistic plans. Photofusion is London's largest independent photography resource centre and has been operating in South London since 1979.

SPACE is supporting visual artists to realise a project within a 6 month-period using innovative technologies or processes. The emphasis is on developing new products and services leading to a more sustainable practice. SPACE has been providing workspaces and advocacy for artists and supporting innovation since 1968.

ERDF

The London Creative Network project is part-financed by the European Regional Development Fund Programme, 2014 to 2020. The Department for Communities and Local Government is the managing authority for the European Regional Development Fund Programme, which is one of the funds established by the European Commission to help local areas stimulate their economic development by investing in projects which will support local businesses and create jobs. London Creative Network follows the very successful New Creative Markets (NCM) programme, which supported almost 600 London-based freelancers and small creative companies from 2012 to 2015.
